WHAT WILL BECOME OF THE POOR ICE MAN

The electric ice box is on its way and the time is surely coming when the ice man will cease to call—when the pressure of a finger will furnish low temperatures for the refrigerators or the ice chest.

The new ice plant for the home looks akin to the ordinary refrigerator, being about the same size and shape; but instead of the ice man dropping ordinary hunks of ice into its interior, at so much a hunk, a small electric motor will drive a small ammonia ice plant and circulate brine through a series of refrigerating pipes.

The new refrigerator is operated by electricity. In place of ice a "cooling liquid" is circulated by a small motor-driven pump. The arrangement for keeping the refrigerator cool is the same used to make artificial ice. With the motor driven pump ammonia gas is compressed to the point at which the gas liquefies (for pure ammonia is a gas) and the heat generated by this compression is extracted with water jackets. This liquefied gas is conducted to the cooler through a pipe allowed to expand in a coil. Of course, as the gas expands it absorbs just as much heat from its surroundings as was generated in compressing it. This lowers the temperature of the interior nearly to the freezing point. From the expansion coil the gas is conducted back to the compressor ready for another cycle.

The beauty of the electric refrigerator is that it works absolutely automatically and with the perfection of economy. When the temperature in the "ice box" rises above a certain point a tiny electric device starts the motor which circulates the cooling liquid. As soon as the temperature drops to the desired point the same device, called a thermostat, stops the motor. The automatic devices control the apparatus indefinitely, and there is no waste of electric power. So simple is the new refrigerator that it requires practically no attention except an occasional oiling of the electric motor and the compressor.

The iceless box has been successfully used for some time in hotels, meat markets, fruit stores, creameries and in wholesale houses, and other places where perishable goods are handled. Now it is to be made in sizes suitable for the home.

NEW ELECTRIC LINE ALMOST TO WONDER

The electric power line from Mono lake to Wonder is gradually reaching the mining camp. The power line is now at Lucky Boy and wire is being stretched daily. It is expected that the line will be in Wonder by the 14th of January. In the meantime a number of mining properties are being equipped for the use of the new power.

TOM HURLEY AT THE BUTLER ALL THIS WEEK

FUNNY FELLOW FROM GOLD-FIELD HAS SOME BRAND NEW JOKES—HURRAH

The following program will be shown at the Butler theatre this afternoon and evening: "The Telephone," a story of the practicability of a telephone in a serious conflagration. "A Day on the French Battleship," a series of photos reproducing life on a French battleship, giving a good idea of what the sailors do in work and play. "The Silent Message" is a western drama with a ruffian making advances to a girl who by reason of being alone is temporarily in his power. But here enters an episode that is so different from anything that has been seen in these western pictures that it makes the film of unusual interest. Tom Hurley, the popular comedian, will also be on the boards this evening in his popular songs and funny stories. It is needless to say that Tom will please for he is always a favorite with the audiences.

WHO'S GOT THE COIN?

Fifty years ago the population of our country was 31,000,000, now it is fully 91,000,000, with 10,000,000 more residents in the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Alaska and our other possessions across the seas.

Fifty years ago our total national wealth but slightly exceeded sixteen billions; now we are worth at least 120 billions, with immense natural yearly increase.

Fifty years ago our national wealth per capita of our population was $514, now the per capita is $1333.

Fifty years ago we were coining gold at the rate of $23,000,000 a year; now our annual gold coinage approaches $100,000,000 a year.

Fifty years ago we had $228,000,000 gold and silver in circulation; now our metallic circulating medium exceeds $800,000,000 besides $1,283,000,000 gold and silver in the treasury, against which gold and silver certificates are probably in circulation. All told, including the United States and national bank notes, our money now in circulation represents $3,121,000,000, as compared with $435,000,000 in 1860.

Fifty years ago our money circulation per capita of our population was $13.85; now it is $14.56, with a population three times as large.

Fifty years ago our annual bank clearings totaled seven billions a year; in 1909 they exceeded $158,000,000,000.

Fifty years ago we did not have a single national bank; June 30, 1909, we had 6026, with $937,000,000 paid up capital, $807,000,000 surplus and undivided profits, and $4,898,000,000 deposits, accommodating and helping business and development to the extent of $5,035,000,000 in loans and discounts.

Fifty years ago the deposits in our savings banks did not aggregate $50,000,000, while June 30, 1909, they totaled $3,713,000,000.

Fifty years ago the deposits in our state banks totaled: now (June 30, 1909) they amount to $2,467,000,000.

Fifty years ago we did not have any loan and trust companies; June 30, 1909, the deposits held by such companies aggregated $2,835,000,000.

Fifty years ago the depositors in our savings banks numbered only 2,693,070; now they number 8,831,863.

Fifty years ago our yearly disbursements for pensions was $1,100,000; it is now $161,000,000.

Fifty years ago our imports and exports totaled a value of $686,000,000; now their value exceeds three billion dollars a year.

Fifty years ago our exports of manufactures were worth only $47,000,000; now they are worth $671,000,000 a year to the American factories.

Fifty years ago (1860) Europe bought $310,000,000 worth of American products; now the yearly purchase exceeds $1,146,000,000, an increase of $836,000,000.

Fifty years ago the value of the animals on our farms was $1,089,000,000; now it is $5,138,000,000, an increase of $4,089,000,000.

Fifty years ago the value of our farms and farm property was $8,000,000,000; now their value is fully $25,000,000,000.—J. Bullard in the Protectionist.

A MIRROR OF THE COMMUNITY

James E. Nugent, after trying for months to make a newspaper go at Bodie, has thrown up the sponge from lack of patronage, and is now devoting his efforts to the Chronicle-Union at Bridgeport. Among other things which Mr. Nugent says in a recent issue is the following:

"It doesn't pay to beg for business, nor is it just the proper thing for an editor to go around with his hat in his hand and with a poor mouth ask for support, and, in an experience of thirty years, the editor of this paper has never done it."

"A newspaper, when conducted properly, is but a mirror of the community in which it is published, and when its columns do not carry the business announcements of all the merchants in a community it speaks loudly of the lack of enterprise therein—tells a story to the world that is not complimentary to the people of either town or county. A good paper is worthy of patronage, and if it does not secure business it is better to give up the ghost—better for the editor and better for the community."
